Action Summary

Receipt of the certified translation of applicants priority document is acknowledged. Applicant has overcome the 35 USC 102(a) rejection over the EP 1 059 348 A1 reference.

Applicants' amendments have overcome the rejections under 35 USC 102(b) over Masuda et al. and 102(e) over Nakaura et al. As noted by the applicants the ranges of the ratios of components disclosed by the prior art do not anticipate applicants claims as amended.

New prior art anticipating applicants' claims has been found and a rejection is made below. The action is made non-final.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Saito et al., US Patent 6,461,755 (the '755 patent).

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application.

Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Saito et al. in the '755 patent disclose electroconductive resin sheets comprising a conductive carbon powder, and a binder in the form of a liquid crystal polyester resin (a thermoplastic resin) and a carbodiimide compound. The amount of carbon is 50 to 3,000 parts by weight, the amount of liquid crystal polyester is 100 parts by weight, and the amount of carbodiimide compound is 0.01 to 30 parts by weight. (Note abstract.) The average particle diameter of the carbon particles is preferably 5 to 80 microns. (Note column 6, lines 39-45) With regards to claims 4 and 5, the composition disclosed by the '755 patent is intended for use as a fuel cell separator. The shape of the separator includes at least one gas passage or groove, injection molding is taught as a preferred method for making separators, and resistances of less than $14\text{m}\Omega\text{ cm}$ are disclosed. (Note column 7 lines 51-67 and column 8, Table 1.) With regards to claims 6 and 7, the '755 patent discloses forming series of fuel cells using the inventive separators. The fuel cell stacks retain between 100 and 99 % of their voltage output after 200 hours of operation. (See column 8, lines 5-19 and column 10, Table 3.)
